ANNEX

PROPOSAL BY THE STATE INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY OFFICE
THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF CHINA

Beijing, August 9, 1999

Dr. Kamil Idris
Director General
World Intellectual Property Organization
Geneva, Switzerland

Dear Dr. Idris,

The 34th serial sessions of the WIPO General Assembly will be convened in Geneva in the coming September.

Since the 21st Century will be an era of knowledge-based economy and information technologies, where intellectual property will be one major factor for pushing forward social and economic development, to establish and improve gradually the intellectual property protection system has turned out to be of vital importance, either in developed or developing countries, to the national economy, people's livelihood and international relations. In order to further promote the awareness of intellectual property protection, expand the influence of intellectual property protection across the world, urge countries to publicize and popularize intellectual property protection laws and regulations, enhance the public legal awareness of intellectual property rights, encourage invention-innovation activities in various countries and strengthen international exchange in the intellectual property field, the Chinese delegation would like to propose that the WIPO adopt the commemoration day of its 30th anniversary of founding (26 April) as the "World Intellectual Property Day" next year and in the following each year. Meanwhile, the Chinese delegation expects the WIPO to list the above proposal in the motions submitted for discussion in the General Assembly. I deeply believe that the adoption of the "World Intellectual property Day" will be widely and well received by all Member States, and will help bring more attention and interest to the theme "Intellectual Property and the 21st Century" on the same day every year.

Please accept, Sir, assurance of my highest consideration,

Yours sincerely,

(Signed)

Jiang Ying
Commissioner
