Why Protect Industrial Designs?

Basic Features and Advantages of the Hague System

Independent filings vs. Hague Route

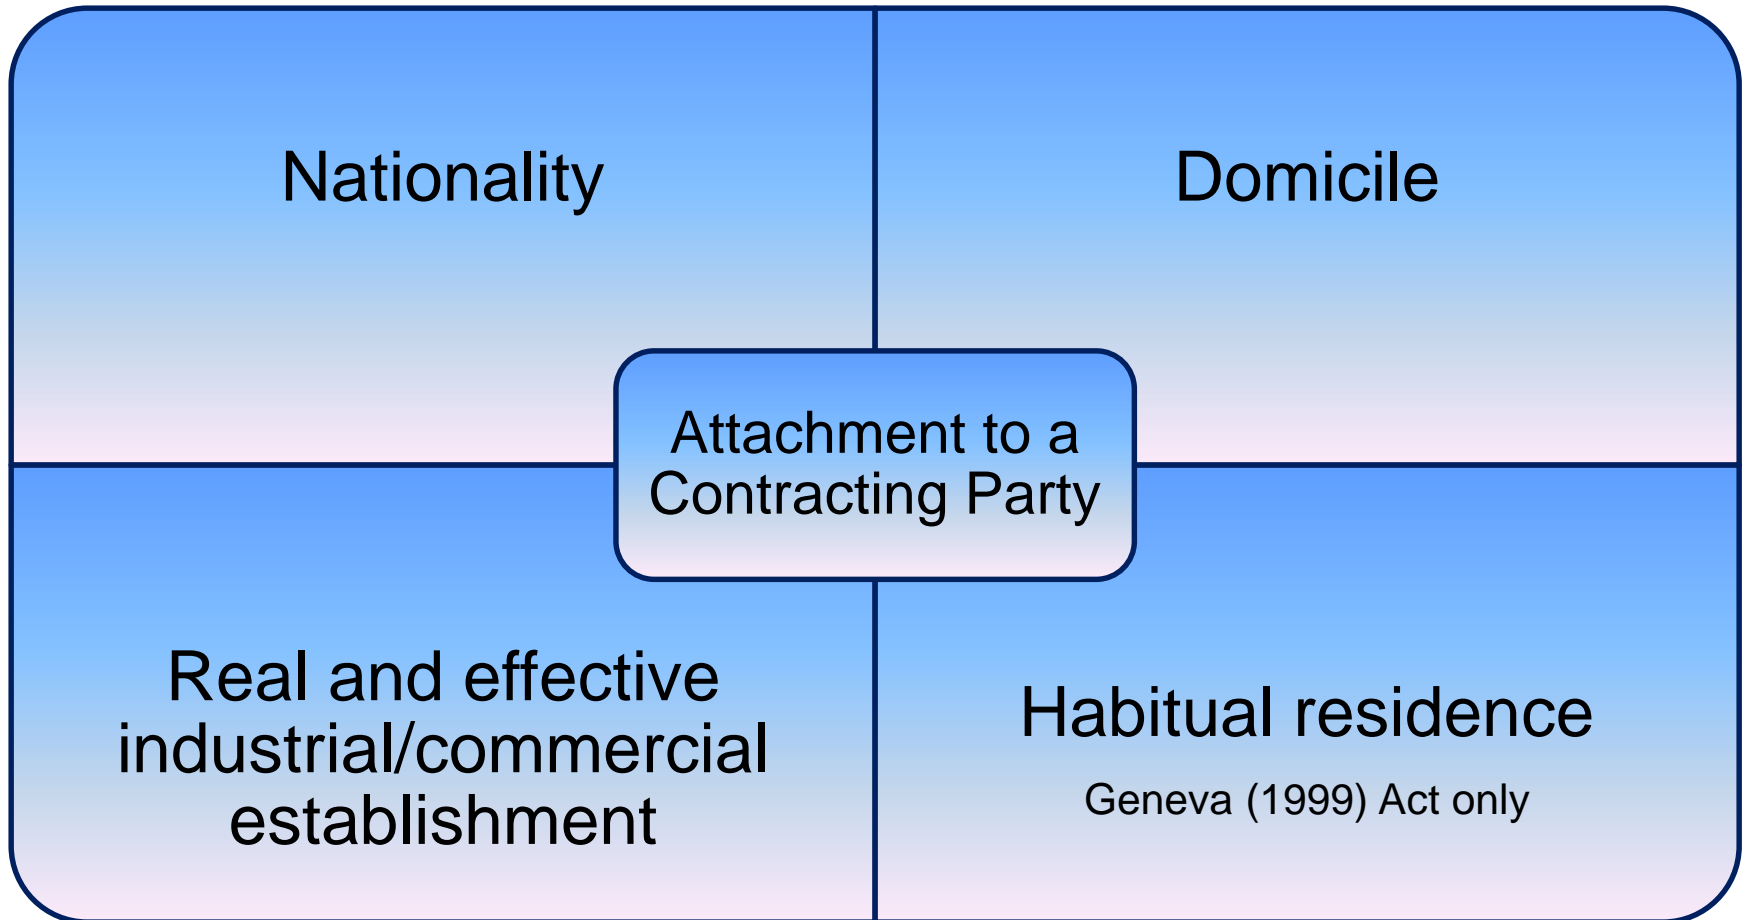

Direct/Paris Route

The Hague System

Who Can Use the System?

Main Features of the Hague System

Simplicity

The Hague System enables holders to obtain protection for their designs with a minimum of formality

Cost-effectiveness

Payment of a single set of fees in one currency

Efficiency

Considerable facilitation of the subsequent management of the registration

Flexibility

Right holders have more opportunities in targeting national, regional or global markets

What is the Hague System?

One to many relationships

- File a single international application for a single international registration in which one or more Contracting Parties are designated

“Bundle of rights”

- If no refusal, the resulting international registration has the effect of a grant of protection in each designated Contracting Party

The Hague System is a Procedural Arrangement

Issues such as:

the conditions for protection the refusal procedure to be applied when deciding whether a design may be protected the rights which result from protection are governed by the law of each Contracting Party designated in an international registration

The International Application

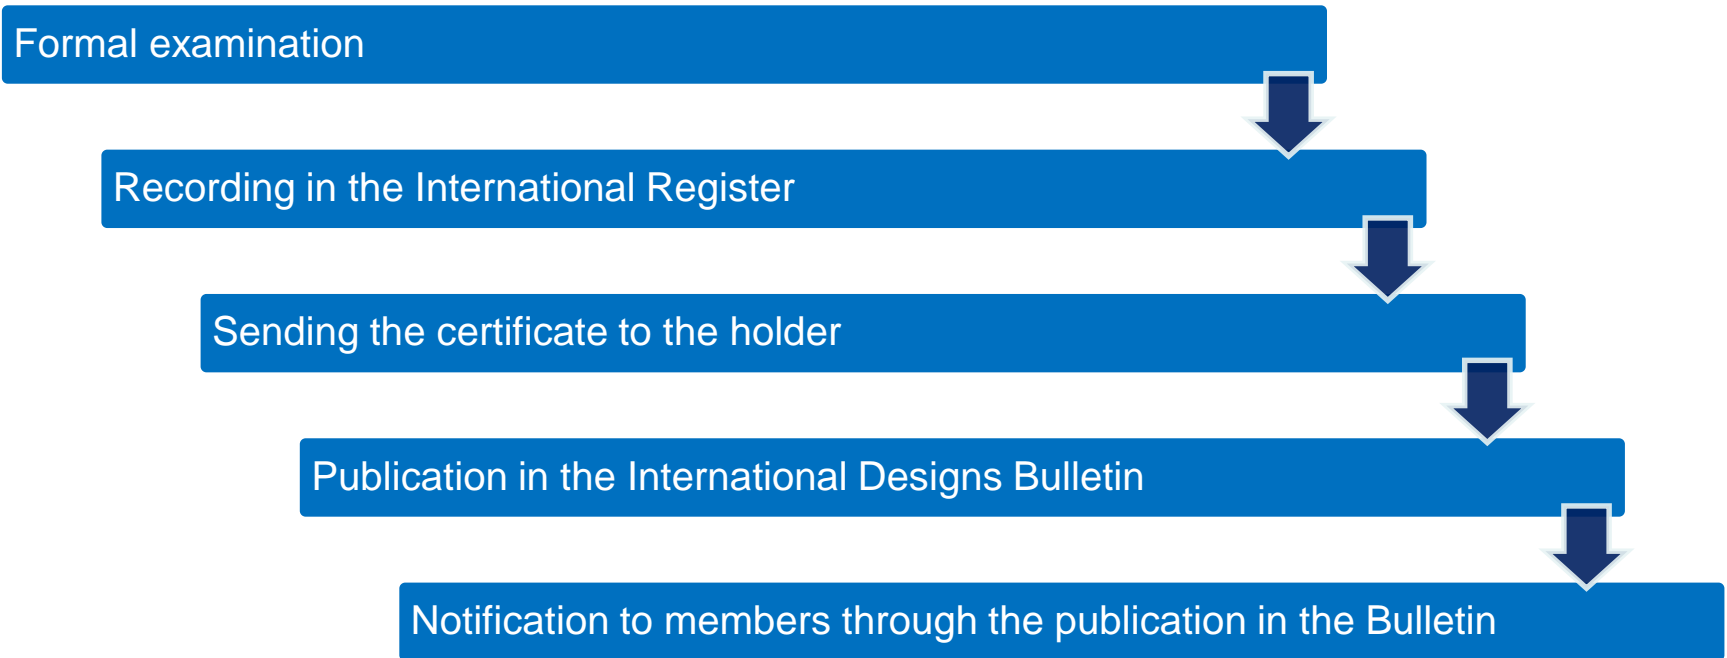

In English, French or Spanish

May be filed directly with the International Bureau through the E-filing interface but also on paper

May comprise several different designs up to a maximum of 100 if they belong to the same class of the International Classification (Locarno)

One set of fees (in CHF) is to be paid

The Hague System Procedure: Role of the International Bureau

If the International Bureau finds that the international application does not fulfill the applicable requirements, it invites the applicant to make the required corrections within three months from the date of invitation sent by the International Bureau.

International registration has the same effect as a regularly-filed application in all designated Contracting Parties.

The Hague System Procedure (II)

Refusal by a designated Contracting Party on same substantive grounds as for national/regional filings must be communicated within time limit effect limited to territory of the member that has refused

International registration (where not refused) no refusal = same rights as a local design registration a bundle of independent national/regional rights advantages of central management

The Hague System Procedure (III)

Duration of protection: five years

Renewable at least once (1960 Act) or twice (1999 Act)

Longer renewal period, if allowed by the law of the designated Contracting Party

General Advantages of the Hague System

Hague System (international route)

one Office for filing one language one currency
one international registration one renewal
one modification
foreign attorney or agent (first needed if refused)

National/regional route

many Offices for filing many languages
many currencies many registrations many renewals
many modifications
foreign attorney or agent
(first needed at filing)

Guidance on Reproductions

Disclosure criteria may differ depending on jurisdiction. This new Guidance is a useful tool to help applicants forestall possible refusals on the ground of insufficient disclosure of an industrial design by Examining Offices.

Prepared in consultation with Examining Offices under the Hague System and several user organizations

Detailed guidance on how to prepare and provide reproductions to overcome the most common refusal issues

- Not enough views
- Unclear representations of the claimed design
- Unclear relief or contours of surfaces of a three-dimensional product
- Difference in form/color between the representations of the claimed design

Information on which guidance should be taken into account when designating specific Contracting Parties

Not self-sufficient or all inclusive

The Hague Express Database, updated weekly, includes bibliographical data and, as far as international registrations governed exclusively or partly by the 1999 and/or by the 1960 Act(s) of the Hague Agreement are concerned, reproductions of industrial designs relating to published bearing a registration date as from January 3, 1985. International registrations that have lapsed are not removed from the database.
