Introduction

- Scientific research is critical to advance higher education, to inform public policy decisions and prepare tomorrow's leaders in a country.

- However, the world's poorest countries have suffered from a lack of access to up-to-date scientific information.

- Most libraries and research organizations in low-income countries do not have the budgets to pay for peer-reviewed journals.

- In addition to this situation, many students studied from teachers who taught from the lectures notes they took many years before.

ARDI – Research for Innovation

The Access to Research for Development and Innovation (ARDI) program, coordinated by WIPO together with its partners in the publishing industry, aims to increase the availability of scientific and technical information in developing countries. By improving access to scholarly literature from diverse fields of science and technology, ARDI seeks to:

- reinforce the capacity of developing countries to participate in the global knowledge economy; and
- support researchers in developing countries in creating and developing new solutions to technical challenges faced on a local and global level.

Currently, over 100 publishers provide access to around 30,000 journals, books, and reference works for 120 developing countries and territories through ARDI.

HOW TO REGISTER

The registration guidelines are available in: English Español Français

This document is a step-by-step guide to register online for the Research4Life programmes: Hinari, AGORA, OARE, ARDI and GOALI.

Following these simple guidelines will avoid problems in the registration process and ensure faster response to all registrations for the Research4Life programmes. Please review the following instructions in order to complete your registration:

Before registration:

- Before filling the online form, please make sure that you have all the needed information. The more information you provide on the form, the faster we can process your registration.
- If your institution is a UNIVERSITY or PROFESSIONAL SCHOOL, before filling the form, check the list of Registered Universities and Professional Schools. If your institution is already listed DO NOT REGISTER

To register for these programmes online click here.

Registration form is available in three languages: English , Spanish and French

If your institution is an academic, government or research institution in a lower income country, it may be eligible for access to the Research4Life Programmes (check eligibility).

Your institution might already be registered with one of the programmes. Before proceeding, please check the list of registered institutions (registered universities and professional schools) before proceeding.

Please note that (1) Only one registration per programme is required per institution, and (2) More than one contact is required to register an institution. (3) Individuals are not eligible to register, only institutions.

Once we review your registration, we will issue a common username and password for all staff at your institution. As Hinari, AGORA, OARE, ARDI and GOALI are in fact virtual libraries, we suggest that your institution's librarian be our main contact point. Should your institution not have a library, your director will be the main contact.
