

Protecting Your IP Overseas: WIPO Services and Initiatives

Sign up for one of our free seminars

Are you looking to take your business overseas but not sure how to protect your intellectual property (IP) rights? Or do you represent businesses and want to hear about the latest developments in global IP systems? Then sign up to attend one of the WIPO roving seminars, to be held at three locations across the UK. In this one-off series of events, senior representatives from the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) will lead an interactive programme of discussions that are sure to be of interest to anyone involved in the international protection of IP rights.

The half-day events will provide an introduction to WIPO services and initiatives, including international systems for the protection of IP rights, alternative dispute resolution, and infrastructure for the exchange of IP information. There will be plenty of opportunity for debate and discussion, as well as interaction with the UK Intellectual Property Office and local business representatives. A full programme will shortly be made available.

Dates and venues for the three seminars have been confirmed as follows:

- 6 October 2014: British Library, London
- 8 October 2014: Central Library, Manchester
- 9 October 2014: Mitchell Library, Glasgow

In order to register your interest, please email wiposeminars@ipo.gov.uk with the subject heading 'WIPO Seminar Registration – London/Manchester/Glasgow (delete as appropriate)', providing us with a contact email address and phone number. Space at the seminars is strictly limited so we encourage early registration to avoid disappointment.
