We claim:

1. A process for production of chlorine dioxide comprising:
 - reacting in an aqueous reaction medium in a reaction vessel an alkali metal chlorate or chloric acid and methanol to generate chlorine dioxide,
 - withdrawing from the reaction vessel a gas comprising chlorine dioxide and gaseous by-products,
 - condensing part of the gas withdrawn to obtain a condensate; and
 - removing said condensate from the non-condensed gas without re-circulating it back to the process for production of chlorine dioxide further comprising bringing said non-condensed gas, after removal of the condensate, to an absorption tower, where it is contacted with a flow of water to form an aqueous solution containing chlorine dioxide.
2. The process as claimed in claim 1, wherein said reaction medium is maintained at a temperature from about 15°C to about 100°C.
3. The process as claimed in any one of the claims 1 or 2, wherein said reaction medium is maintained at an acidity from about 2 to about 11 N.
4. The process as claimed in any one of the preceding claims, wherein the reaction medium is maintained at a temperature and pressure corresponding to its boiling point.
5. The process as claimed in any one of the preceding claims, wherein the reaction medium is maintained at a pressure from about 8 to about 80 kPa.
