

Sara Karla Quinteros Malpartida

Graduated in Sociology from the National University of San Marcos, with completed studies of the Master's Degree in Cultural Heritage Management, from the Faculty of Social Sciences of the National University of San Marcos, with specialization diplomas in Rights of Indigenous Peoples, and Design and Management of Social Projects by the Pontifical Catholic University and Biodiversity Conservation and Management by the National University of San Marcos. I have also taken specialization courses on intellectual property issues and those related to Traditional Knowledge and Traditional Cultural Expressions, as well as the protection of plant varieties within the framework of the UPOV Convention (International Union for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants).

With experience in the administration of protection requests related to the Regime for the Protection of Collective Knowledge of Indigenous Peoples linked to biological resources, and Protection of New Plant Varieties in Peru, as well as the coordination and promotion activities of these mechanisms of intellectual property, I currently work as Coordinator of Collective Knowledge and Plant Varieties of the Directorate of Inventions and New Technologies of INDECOPI, which is the Peruvian authority on intellectual property.