

Clifford Chance / WIPO Arbitration and Mediation Center Tech Risks Roadshow

Why you should attend

Tech is fast becoming an intrinsic part of most businesses, informing and affecting every aspect of business life. Tech could be the product or service, or it could be part of the process to enhance management and operation of a business. With reference to the life-cycle of a tech product or process, our panel of technology experts from Europe, US and APAC will discuss all the potential litigation and regulatory risks which a business should be aware of in developing and exploiting tech. Risk mitigation and transfer solutions will also be discussed, along with common issues in tech disputes.

Who should attend

The event is designed for anyone working with tech development and exploitation: tech-related banking and financial services, investors and entrepreneurs offering new tech or digital services, start-ups, financial technology companies and any company developing or acquiring cutting-edge technology.

Program details

With reference to a technology life cycle, we will cover:

1. Protection of your tech from the initial R&D phase, through the ascent and maturity phase, to the decline phase.
2. Transactional and some regulatory issues to consider when exploiting your tech.
3. Common issues in tech disputes and WIPO Alternative Dispute Resolution.
4. Regulatory tech risks, based on the latest global trends.
