Q U E S T I O N N A I R E

1. Does your Office use any practices to make citing of specific parts of patent documents possible independent of the media and formats on which the document is stored or published?

YES NO

2. In the light of new developments in media and formats, is your Office planning to introduce new practices regarding citing of specific parts of patent documents?

YES NO

3. If your Office is planning to introduce those practices, when will they be introduced?

4. In WIPO Standard ST.36 paragraph numbering in patent document is foreseen. If your Office is using or planning to use practices for unambiguous citing of the text, which practices are or will be used?

5. If paragraph numbering is done or foreseen by your Office, who defines or will define the paragraphs to be numbered?

YES NO

Comments, if necessary:

7. If your Office is using or planning to use practices for unambiguous citing of the text, how are the claims treated (or how will they be treated)?

JPO accepts application in XML format. Under this format, claims as a whole must be tagged with <claims>, and each claim must be tagged with <claim> (e.g. claim 1 is represented as "<claim num="1">text</claim>").

8. Does your Office count or intend to count other parts of the specification apart from textual parts, e.g., embedded images, tables, etc.? Please specify:

Yes. JPO employs tags to identify chemical formulae, mathematical formulae, or tables. These tags have numbers as their attributes (e.g. <chemistry num="1">NaCl</chemistry>) in order to identify one part from other parts of the same kind.

9. Do you plan to create within the user interface of your electronic patent information products or services an option to suppress the display of the numbers allotted to paragraphs, sentences, etc.? Please specify the products or services and the methods used:

No.

10. If your Office has introduced or is planning to introduce e-filing, does it intend to implement or change its practices concerning the citing of specific parts of patent documents with regard to e-filing?

YES NO

Please elaborate: JPO introduced e-filing as early as in 1990 and has developed practices as described above as to the citing of specific parts of patent documents. We at this time do not have any plan to further change these practices.

11. What are, according to the position of your Office, aspects which seem to be difficult?

- Long paragraphs – Comments, if necessary:
 Other –Please specify: JPO has no difficulties.

12. Do you intend to introduce additional measures to solve the problem of unambiguous citing?

- Instructions to the applicant
 Other –Please specify: JPO does not have any plan to introduce additional measures as current JPO practices fully guarantee clear identification of specific parts of patent documents.
