

The Federal Service for Intellectual Property, Patents and Trademarks (Russian Patent Office) has worked out an intermediary version of the revised draft questionnaire concerning the protection of official names of States against registration or use as trademarks and has no comments on it.