Comments:

9. In your IT systems, what format(s) are dates for IP documents and data stored in?

Please select all formats used by your various IT systems for dates related to IP documents and data.

As a different format (describe in comments)

Comments: IP documents date stored in MySql DATE type fields

10. What is the maximum year your systems are capable of storing? If your systems use multiple digital date storage formats, select all that apply.

Note - when the “maximum date” is exceeded in affected systems, the date rolls back to the beginning of the time period, such as January 1, 1970. The result is similar to Y2K issues. For references on this topic, see https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Time_formatting_and_storage_bugs.

Other maximum. (specify in comments)

Comments: MySql maximum date is '9999-12-31'. Systems based on 32-bit Java has 2038 problem.

11. Are there any other considerations that users should be aware of with dates in your published documents? If so, please provide an explanation and examples. For instance, Japanese documents often indicate the year of the Emperor’s reign, as explained in the current Part 7.1.

12. Optional - If you wish to provide any file attachments with examples from your other answers (such as question 11), please do so here.

4. Thank You!
